

Awards of Excellence

Our 15th annual Awards of Excellence once again salute the “best of the best”—those companies and individuals whose products and services are having a significant and long-lasting impact on our sporting lives.

Nominees for the awards are submitted by our senior and contributing editors, then finalized by the Sporting Classics staff. The honorees were chosen for their achievements in defining what a great sporting product should be. Their engineering, craftsmanship, and innovations have set higher standards than ever before.

2014 Company of the Year CAESAR GUERINI USA

Caesar Guerini was founded in 2002 when Giorgio and Antonio Guerini of Italy teamed with Wesley Lang of the US to build firearms that would represent the newest standards of premium performance, durability, and value for American sportsmen and women.

Now headquartered in Cambridge, Maryland, Caesar Guerini USA produces a wide variety of fine shotguns, from upland field models to sporting clay target guns, as well as trap and high-rib sporters. Imported from Caesar Guerini in Brescia, Italy, their over-and-unders incorporate outstanding craftsmanship, precise manufacturing tolerances, and top-notch materials. And each gun is backed by some of the best customer service in the industry, including a complimentary PitStop maintenance program and a lifetime guarantee.

“We don’t strive to be the largest gunmaker in our niche, but the best,” says Lang. “We always try to add value for the customer by making a better product without an increase in price.”

Every Caesar Guerini gun is a modern classic, a functional example of Italian art. Visit GueriniUSA.com.
